Should, however, any fifty Members be of opinion that the case of a Member so expelled ought to be reconsidered, and should a statement to such effect, signed by such fifty Members, be forwarded to the Committee within six months of the expulsion, the Committee shall call an Extraordinary General Meeting, to which the matter shall be submitted, and if a majority of not less than three-fourths of such Meeting, which must consist of at least fifty Members, agree to the reinstatement of the Member, he shall be reinstated.
